

What You Need to Know If You are a contact of a positive case of COVID-19

I am a contact of a Covid19 case but I do not live in the same household

If you are a close contact of someone who tested positive for COVID19, living in a different household you must undergo mandatory quarantine for a period of days as advised by the Public Health Authorities. This is usually for 14 days from the date of last contact with the positive case. All members of the same household must also undergo the mandatory quarantine. The purpose of quarantine is to prevent the possible spread of COVID-19 and thus contain the infection.

Keep in mind that regular spot checks will be carried out during your period of mandatory quarantine. In accordance with Legal Notice 98 of 2020, any person in mandatory quarantine who was a contact of a positive case (and anybody living in the same household as the contact) are liable to a fine of €3,000 each time there is a breach in quarantine.

Once the mandatory quarantine period starts, you must remain in the same address for the whole duration of quarantine. Requests to change the residential address where one is undergoing quarantine are not generally accepted and are only approved in exceptional circumstances following a case-by-case assessment and authorization by the Superintendence of Public Health.

How do I protect myself and others from Covid19?

- ✓ If you are a close contact of someone who is positive for COVID19, minimize contact with people who live with you in the same household. Try to self-isolate, as much as possible, in a separate room (quarantine room) that is adequately ventilated.

To protect yourself and others, practice good hand hygiene and respiratory etiquette:

Wash your hands regularly with soap and water for at least 20 seconds, and if not available, use an alcohol-base hand disinfectant (at least 70% alcohol.)

Cover your nose and mouth with a tissue or the inner side of your flexed elbow when coughing or sneezing. Throw used tissues in a closed bin immediately.

DO NOT sneeze or cough into your hands as you may contaminate objects or people that you touch.

Avoid touching your eyes, nose and mouth before washing your hands.

Monitor yourself for Signs and Symptoms of COVID19

All the household members undergoing mandatory quarantine should self-monitor their temperature twice daily and be on the lookout for any signs and symptoms of COVID19 infection described in the following section.

What are the signs of COVID19 Infection?

Common symptoms of infection include fever, cough, shortness of breath, diarrhea, loss of taste and/or smell, headache, beside other symptoms. Watch out for mild symptoms which may resemble the flu or a bad cold.

The elderly or immunocompromised people suffering from chronic conditions such as diabetes mellitus, respiratory conditions or has a weakened immune system (such as a person undergoing chemotherapy,) are more at risk of developing serious respiratory tract illness, such as pneumonia or bronchitis. (For further information refer to our website covid19health.gov.mt.)

Call the Public Health Authorities if you think that you have developed COVID19

If you have any of the above symptoms, contact Public Health authorities on the Covid19 helpline 111. If you have a foreign mobile number, call on (+356) 2132 4086. Make sure to advise that you are under mandatory quarantine as you were a close contact of a confirmed case of COVID-19 and have now developed symptoms. Do not go to your doctor, health centre or hospital. In the case of very severe symptoms, call 112 immediately for emergency services.

When do I call 112 for medical assistance?

In case of a medical emergency ONLY, call 112. Seek immediate medical attention if you experience any of the following or your medical condition (if you suffer from chronic conditions) deteriorates in any way:

- ✓ Start having trouble breathing
- ✓ Persistent pain or pressure in the chest (chest pain)
- ✓ Bluish discolouration of the lips
- ✓ Become suddenly confused or disoriented.

Taking care of your mental health

During your quarantine you might feel disconnected from others and anxious about your health and the health of your loved ones. Staying in touch with your family and friends by phone or through social media, can be helpful.

If you, or any of your household members under quarantine, are/is feeling anxious or distressed, a mental help helpline is available 24/7 by calling 1770.

Tips on protecting your mental health

Follow regular schedules for waking up, dressing, eating, working, entertainment and going to sleep

Limit caffeine intake

Establish objectives for each day as well for the whole week

Stay in contact with family, friends and colleagues.

Keep yourself informed but limit the time spent focusing on covid19 related information

You can also keep yourself connected online without speaking but being together

Keep your mind active; reading, writing, playing an instrument and doing jigsaw puzzles

Sit near a window/ balcony to enjoy daylight and sunshine. If you live alone you can sit outside in your yard, roof, or garden

- ✓ Being under quarantine can be frightening, particularly for young children. It is important to talk to them and help them understand what COVID-19 is. This will help in reducing their anxiety. Reassure young children using age-appropriate language.
- ✓ Treat quarantine as an opportunity to do some of those things you would not usually have time for, such as playing board games, crafts, drawing and reading.
- ✓ Exercise regularly. Options could include dancing, floor exercises, yoga, walking around the garden or using home exercise equipment, such as a stationary bicycle. Exercise is a proven treatment for stress and depression. One can also follow online or TV exercise programmes.

What happens when I end my 14 days of quarantine?

If you and the other household members, did not develop any Covid19 symptoms and remained negative after having completed your mandatory quarantine, you may recommence your usual activities as directed by Public Health Authorities.

Frequently asked Questions

How do I clean and disinfect my home?

- ✓ It is important that you clean and disinfect surfaces that you touched such as door handles, light switches, bathroom fixtures, kitchen counters, bed side tables, electronics and telephones every day (For guidance regarding disinfection, refer to the section below)

- ✓ Clean and disinfect soiled areas which have been contaminated, with blood, stool or body fluids
- ✓ While cleaning, wear disposable gloves. (If you require further information, kindly refer to www.covid19health@gov.mt)
- ✓ If possible, it is recommended that you clean the “quarantine room” and bathroom yourself. If this is not possible, the person who cleans it for you, should wear gloves and a mask. This person should wait for as long as possible before cleaning the bathroom after you made use of it last.

Doorknobs

Lift buttons

Keyboard & mouse

Touch-screens devices

Kitchen surfaces

How can I disinfect appropriately?

Clean the area with soap and water or you can disinfect commonly touched areas using one of the following:

A Diluted household bleach solutions (if appropriate for the surface) - Usual dilution

5 tablespoons (1/3rd cup) bleach per 3.8 Litres of water
OR
4 teaspoons bleach per 4 cups of water

B Alcohol-based solutions with at least 70% composition of alcohol are also effective

It is advisable to always read the instructions on the label of the product you are using. Most products recommend adequate ventilation, use of gloves and the duration of how long to leave the disinfectant on the surface being cleaned before it is washed/wiped off (generally 1 minute). Do not mix household bleach with any other cleanser.
